Chapter 11: Policy design and implementation. David, Fred R. Strategic management: concepts and cases / Fred R. David. 13th ed. p. cm. Aspiration biopsy: changing clinical practice. The development of a non-surgical technique for the acquisition of cells for pathological examination is described. A patent from the British patent office is quoted and the classification of cytological needle biopsies is discussed. It is pointed out that non-surgical techniques have reduced the workload of histopathology laboratories to a level comparable with that of many years ago. Some of the new cytological techniques are mentioned. Also described is the progression of the technique of fine needle aspiration of bone marrow in patients with haematological and solid neoplasia. Q: Unable to determine if device is in landscape or portrait mode I have made a simple app that just displays a button. By clicking on it you change the mode to landscape or portrait. Now the problem is this. I use only the orientationEvent when the app is in landscape mode. If I rotate the device and then the orientation event it changes as well. And now when I click again and change the mode to landscape and then change it again to portrait it sets both to landscape. I tried to use method askForApprovalForLaunchOptions and the apps output file.
